Electronic Worship Resource Documents

You can send these electronically or by post for private reflection and worship, for example as bulletins, worship aids or pew sheets. We recommend using .pdf.

Check the original source of what you are using. If it is credited in the acknowledgements to an older source, you should follow the steps for that older source.

What do you want to use?

Hymns and Songs →

Liturgy →

Poetry, Prose, Other →

Do you have a church copyright licence? (CCLI or ONE LICENSE)
- No → Is it definitely public domain, or released under a waiver?
  - Yes → You can use this! ✔
  - No → You need to get permission from the rightsholder to include this, or you can instead give a link to an official, verified online source of the original material, if there is one.
- Yes → Is it a named item in the licence's approved list?
  - No → (to "Is it definitely public domain, or released under a waiver?")
  - Yes → Which licence do you have?
    - CCLI Church Copyright Licence (CCL) → This can be retyped or written out by hand to include in your document. ✔
    - ONE LICENSE → If there is a download on the ONE LICENSE website, you can use that version, or you can scan and use the congregational version only, in a publication of which your church owns at least one purchased copy. You can also retype this in a music notation program, or write it out by hand for use in your document. ✔
    - CCLI Music Reproduction Licence (MRL) or CLA → If there is a download on the CCLI website, you can use that, or you can scan and use the version in a publication of which your church owns at least one purchased copy. ✔

Secular Music? or CDs and Audio files? or Video? or Adverts? → You need to get permission from the rightsholder to include this, or you can instead give a link to an official, verified online source of the original material, if there is one.

Scripture → Do you use fewer than 500 verses in total?
- No → You need to get permission from the rightsholder to include this, or you can instead give a link to an official, verified online source of the original material, if there is one.
- Yes → Which version of the Bible are you using?
  - NIV → This version may be used within the guidelines given on their website, so long as the Bible edition is credited in full somewhere on the document. ✔
  - Any other version → Find the publisher's website and check the copyright guidelines for this version. You might need permission, even for a small amount.
  - RSV/NRSV → This version may be used within the guidelines given on their website. Every scripture quotation should be marked up [NRSV] or [RSV], accordingly. ✔

Images → Is it your own, created completely new, not adapted or based on anything else?
- Yes → You can use this! ✔
- No → Is it definitely public domain, or creative commons (CC BY or CC BY-SA)?
  - Yes → You can use this! ✔
  - No → You need to get permission from the rightsholders to include this.