

Regional Learning & Development Coordinator

Salary £33,250 - £43,225 per annum

Learning & Development Coordinator based in the East of England Region with a church and community or discipleship specialism.

The Discipleship and Ministries Learning Network has a staff of over 50 staff located in 14 teams across England, Scotland and Wales, with each team having its own Coordinator who is responsible for:

- coordination of a team of staff in the planning, developing and review of learning and development
- building good relationships with individuals and communities across the church and beyond
- attending a range of gatherings to act as a catalyst for learning and development
- encouraging the sharing of individual gifts and experiences across a number of teams and other groups
- preparing and delivering a range of learning and development activities and events

Each member of staff also has a specialism and will take some responsibility for this area of work, alongside others, both regionally and further afield.

We are looking for someone who:

- has proven ability in learning and development
- has proven ability of coordinating a team of staff and volunteers
- is a skilful practitioner in their specialism
- has a strong commitment to collaborative and partnership working
- has a proven track record of meeting deadlines within a complex and varied workload
