PREFACE

Since 1974 Methodists have become familiar with what has come to be known as ‘the black book’. The loose-leaf ring-book binding in which Constitutional Practice and Discipline was published was designed to make it easier to incorporate amendments by substituting sheets. The format was heavy and cumbersome, however, and it is hoped that the new style of presentation will be lighter and easier to use. Volume 1 contains the fixed texts: the Acts of Parliament and historic documents. Volume 2 comprises the material which Conference is empowered to amend, and this will be reissued annually in order to provide readers with an up to date version.

This division also helps to illustrate the legal framework within which the Methodist Church is governed. The authority under which the Conference acts is legally given by the 1976 Methodist Church Act. The next ‘tier’ of authority is given by the Model Trusts in the second Schedule of the Act and the Deed of Union. These derive their authority from the Act. They can be amended, but the process is deliberately protracted, to ensure that there is consultation and time for reflection. Thirdly there are the Standing Orders and guidelines adopted by the Conference, which are far more detailed and more easily changed, provided that they are within the limits prescribed by the Act, the Model Trusts and the Deed.

The existence of this large body of legislation illustrates one aspect of Methodism’s understanding of the church. Each local church is a member of a larger body, subject to a common discipline and pattern of government, sharing in a wider life. The authority of Conference, legally given by Act of Parliament, has its theological basis in this understanding of the church as a ‘connexion’ of local churches, circuits and districts, expressing their fellowship in the Body of Christ by their constitutional ties.

The fact that most aspects of constitutional practice and discipline can be amended, and that such amendments occur so frequently is also significant. Changes reflect not only the need for administrative adjustment, but the conviction that the church must not stand still, but must move forward as the Spirit leads, and is always in need of reform.

These volumes have been prepared under the direction of the Law and Polity Committee, and the Committee is grateful, as always, especially to Mr John Hicks whose wide sympathies and attention to detail are so generously placed at the service of the Church.

FOREWORD TO THE SIXTH EDITION

(Abridged)

The second to fifth editions of this work were essentially consolidations of the annual amendments necessitated by the continuing legislation of the Conference. This sixth edition is, by contrast, in many respects a wholly new production. This is not the place in which to deal with the far-reaching alterations of content which are the work of the restructuring committees, but some of the changes of form and arrangement which have been made by the Law and Polity Committee call for comment.

Historically ‘C.P.D.’ derived from the Standing Orders printed annually in the Minutes of Conference, and in the arrangement of previous editions they were given pride of place. But Standing Orders are not self-authenticating. The authority to issue them is derivative, and it derives from the truly central constitutional document of the Methodist Church – the Deed of Union. The authority of the Uniting Conference of 1932 to promulgate the Deed of Union and the Model Trust Deed for Methodist property was in turn conferred, so far as the assistance of the law of the land was required, by the Methodist Church Union Act 1929. The relegation of the Act and the Deeds to the back of ‘C.P.D.’ as ‘historic documents’ has perhaps obscured this relationship, discouraged reference to them and fostered an impression that they are largely of antiquarian interest, without a living role in the constitution of the Church. In this edition the natural order – Act, Deeds, Standing Orders – is followed, and there are frequent cross-references between Standing Orders and the connected passages in the Deed of Union, which are often essential to a proper comprehension of the Standing Orders.

Within the Standing Orders themselves, in addition to the alterations of content already mentioned, some significant changes of arrangement have been made. Such of the old ‘administrative regulations’ as were of general legislative significance have been integrated into the main text. [...] The numbering system is intended to enable new and amended provisions to be inserted without disruption and it also ensures that the number of a Standing Order is of itself an indication of its topic – 510, for instance, must be in Part 5 (and so concern the Circuit) and in Section 51 (relating in particular to the Circuit Meeting).

The innovation which most requires the understanding and co-operation of users is the introduction of Part 0, containing general provisions, and in particular of Section 00, dealing with interpretation. While the Deed of Union has always contained an interpretation clause Standing Orders formerly did not, and although many of the expressions defined in the Deed were plainly used in the same sense in Standing Orders other key words were plainly not, much worse, were employed without any consistency. In particular the word ‘minister’ sometimes seemed to include probationers, sometimes not and sometimes gave no clear guidance either way; it posed similar problems, too, in relation to supernumeraries and other categories.

In this edition Standing Orders adopt most of the definitions employed in the Deed of Union and also define a number of additional terms, and a determined effort has been made to apply those definitions consistently. The Law and Polity Committee urges all users, and even more vigorously all bodies bringing amendments to Standing Orders to the Conference, to make frequent reference to these definitions; most of them, in most contexts, express what is already the generally understood meaning in Methodism, but it is essential to be familiar with some of the key expressions, especially those relating to the ministry. FOREWORD TO THE SEVENTH EDITION

The sixth edition of 1974 was, as its Foreword states, in many respects ‘wholly new’ in arrangement and content, as well as in the obtrusively apparent matter of format. The return in this edition to bound volumes, however, is not accompanied by any such upheaval in other respects. This essential continuity is exemplified in the Contents pages, where the substantially unaltered ordering of subject-matter into Books takes precedence over the new distribution of print between Volumes.

Since 1974 the Methodist Church Union Act 1929 and the Model Deed of 1932 have been replaced by the Methodist Church Act 1976 and its statutory Model Trusts. With that substitution the third paragraph of the 1974 Foreword still explains the main structure of this work, and it is now reinforced and amplified by the second paragraph of Mr Beck’s Preface. The more detailed explanations in the fourth to sixth paragraphs of the 1974 Foreword also remain pertinent and the appeals there to readers are repeated.

The indices are the expert work of Dr John Vickers. The index in Volume 1 is to that Volume only; the index in Volume 2 is to the whole work and the publishers hope to have it revised annually.

FOREWORD TO THE ELECTRONIC VERSION OF VOLUME 1

Upon the return in 1988 to bound volumes of Constitutional Practice and Discipline, the division of the material into two volumes meant that Volume 1, containing texts which were generally fixed (the Acts of Parliament and historic documents), did not require to be regularly re-issued.

Inevitably, in the intervening period instances have arisen where emendation of this volume (the “blue book”) would be useful. The Law and Polity Committee has decided that, whilst a re-issue of the printed version is not appropriate at this point, it would be helpful to make the material in Volume 1 available (as is Volume 2) in electronic form. This will enable the use in this medium of the whole text of Constitutional Practice and Discipline and has also permitted the emendations referred to above to be made at least in this form.

This version therefore departs from the printed text in the following ways:

- Identified typographical errors (which were very few in number) have been corrected, on comparison where necessary with the official, Queen’s Printer’s copy of texts.
- In the rare instances where the actual legislation can be, and has been, amended, these amendments have been indicated in square brackets.
- The opportunity has been taken to update many of the editorial notes and cross-references to Volume 2.
- The Comparative Tables and Index at the back have been omitted. Persons researching the history of a particular provision are likely to have access to a library copy of this volume, whilst the usefulness of an index in this medium is limited.

The Preface and the earlier Forewords (somewhat further abridged) have been retained, because their value as a general introduction to Methodist constitutional practice and discipline remains unsurpassed.

This Act repealed the Methodist Church Union Act 1929 (printed in Book V of this work as an historic text) and replaced it as the principal general statute providing the foundation on which in law all the remainder of the constitutional structure of the Methodist Church is raised.

See also the note on the preceding page.

An Act to make further provision concerning the constitution, purposes, doctrinal standards and property of the Methodist Church in Great Britain, to vest in the Trustees for Methodist Church Purposes as custodian trustees all property held upon the trusts of the Model Deed of the Methodist Church and certain other property and to provide for such property to be held upon new model trusts, to declare the said new model trusts and provide for the adoption of such trusts in relation to other property of the Methodist Church; to repeal the Methodist Church Union Act 1929 and re-enact with modifications some of the provisions thereof; and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid.

[26th October 1976]

For the Methodist Church Union Act 1929 see Book V, Part 4 (p. 79).

WHEREAS under and by virtue of the enactments in that behalf contained in the Methodist Church Union Act 1929 (hereinafter referred to as ‘the Act of 1929’) and a deed of union executed in pursuance thereof on the 20th September 1932 (hereinafter referred to as ‘the date of union’) the Wesleyan Methodist Church, the Primitive Methodist Church and the United Methodist Church became as from the date of union a united church or denomination under the name of the Methodist Church:

And whereas pursuant to the powers contained in section 8 (Power of Uniting Conference to adopt Deed of Union) of the Act of 1929 the Conference of the Methodist Church has from time to time subsequent to the date of the union amended the said deed of union (hereinafter as so amended referred to as ‘the Deed of Union’):

And whereas the constitution and doctrinal standards of the Methodist Church are declared and defined in the Deed of Union and under and by virtue of the proviso to subsection (2) of the said section 8 (and of clause 31(a) of the Deed of Union) the Conference of the Methodist Church has no power to alter or vary in any manner whatsoever the clauses contained in the Deed of Union which define the said doctrinal standards:

And whereas pursuant to the powers contained in section 14 (Power to adopt new model deed) of the Act of 1929 a model trust deed (hereinafter referred to as ‘the Model Deed’) dated 15 December, 1932, was adopted and certain property of the Methodist Church is held respectively upon the trusts of that deed as from time to time altered pursuant to the powers contained in section 15 (Power to alter new model deed) of the Act of 1929 upon trusts of numerous deeds executed after the 15th December, 1932, incorporating the trusts of the Model Deed and upon the trusts of one or other of the three earlier model trust deeds which are referred to in the Preamble to the Act of 1929 (all the aforesaid deeds immediately hereinbefore recited being hereafter together referred to as ‘the model deeds’):

And whereas under and by virtue of the enactments in that behalf contained in the Methodist Church Act 1939 a single body of trustees was constituted and incorporated under the name and style of the Trustees for Methodist Church Purposes (hereinafter referred to as ‘the Board’) and empowered to receive and hold as trustees or as custodian trustees (and so that section 4 of the Public Trustee Act 1906 should apply to the Board as if the Board were entitled by rules made under that Act to act as custodian trustees) all real, leasehold and other personal estate which should from time to time be given devised or bequeathed or lawfully assured or transferred to them upon or for any trusts, intents or purposes connected with the Methodist Church or any of its connexional or local organisations or further and otherwise as by the said Act of 1939 provided:

And whereas under and by virtue of the enactments in that behalf contained in the Methodist Church Funds Act 1960 better provision was made for the investment of certain funds (including any funds for the time being held upon the trusts of the model deeds) of or connected with the work of the Methodist Church:

And whereas the Sharing of Church Buildings Act 1969, which applies to the Methodist Church, makes provision for the sharing and using of church buildings in England and Wales by different churches in manner inconsistent with the trusts of the model deeds relating to the doctrinal standards of the Methodist Church:

And whereas under and by virtue of subsection (4) of section 15 (Power to alter new model deed) of the Act of 1929 (and of clause 32 of the Deed of Union) the Conference of the Methodist Church has no power to alter or vary in the Model Deed the clause therein contained relating to the doctrinal standards of the Methodist Church:

And whereas no provision was made in the Act of 1929 for the definition of the purposes of the Methodist Church and it is expedient in the circumstances now prevailing that such provision as is made in this Act should be made for the definition of such purposes:

And whereas it is expedient that the Conference of the Methodist Church should be empowered to alter any provision of the Deed of Union including any such provision relating to the doctrinal standards of the Methodist Church:

And whereas by reason of the changes in the structure of the organisation and government of the Methodist Church and of the desirability of central vesting of the property held upon the trusts of the model deeds it is expedient that provision should be made by this Act for the discharge of the existing trustees of the said property, for the vesting of the said property in the Board as custodian trustees and for the managing trustees of the said property to be such person or persons to be ascertained in the manner provided by this Act.

And whereas for the better administration of the property mentioned in the foregoing recital it is expedient that this Act should provide that the said trusts affecting such property should be determined and that all such property be held upon model trusts provided for by this Act:

And whereas it is expedient to provide for the adoption of the said model trusts in relation to certain other property of the Methodist Church:

And whereas numerous enactments contained in the Act of 1929 are spent and it is expedient that the Act should be repealed and that some of its provisions should be re-enacted with modifications as provided by this Act:

And whereas it is expedient that the other provisions contained in this Act be enacted:

And whereas the purposes of this Act cannot be effected without the authority of Parliament:

May it therefore please Your Majesty that it may be enacted, and be it enacted, by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:-

The effect of this subsection is to enable managing trustees of model trust property to take over model trust money held in a bank account at the vesting date.

By resolution dated 27th April 1977 the Board in exercise of its powers under s.4(2)(e) of the 1906 Act permitted and directed all income of model trust property in Great Britain to be received by the managing trustees and paid into a bank to their credit, subject to certain conditions.

Before giving such notice the holder shall obtain the consent or direction of any other person whose consent or direction would be necessary on a sale by the holder of investments comprised in the contributing fund but this provision shall not apply to any consent or direction which by virtue of the provisions of subsection (2) of section 8 (Jurisdiction of Minister of Education and Charity Commissioners) of the Act is not required for such withdrawal and in any event the Central Board shall not be concerned to see that any such consent or direction has been obtained.

(5) In order to ensure that the basic value of the shares in an investment fund shall not be affected to a material extent by the effects of contributions or withdrawals the Central Board shall assess and impose such surcharge (if any) in respect of any contributions in cash made to an investment fund subsequent to the commencement date and shall assess and impose such deduction (if any) in respect of any withdrawals in cash from an investment fund as it shall consider appropriate:

Provided always that in respect of all contributions in cash made as on the same valuation date the surcharge shall be of the same amount per share and that in respect of all withdrawals in cash made as on the same valuation date the deduction shall be of the same amount per share.

(6) When notice of withdrawal has been given in respect of any share in an investment fund the Central Board may pending the payment out of the proceeds of withdrawal advance to the holder of the share such sum as it may think fit not exceeding the sum which it estimates to be the net amount which will be payable to such holder by virtue of the withdrawal of the share. Any sum so advanced shall be repayable with interest at such rate as may have been agreed at the time of the advance on the date of the payment out of the proceeds of withdrawal of the share concerned and the Central Board shall be entitled to a lien on the proceeds of withdrawal of any share for an amount advanced to the holder of such share pursuant to this subparagraph and for interest thereon.

9 Valuations. (1) The Central Board shall value each investment fund on such dates approximately half-yearly as it may determine and may value an investment fund on any other dates if it shall think fit to do so.

(2) The following provisions shall apply to any valuation made for the purposes of this scheme of an investment fund or of any assets contributed to or withdrawn from an investment fund:

- (a) Investments quoted on a stock exchange shall be taken at the mid-market price on the valuation date as published in relation to the relevant stock exchange or if there is no published price on that date the mid-market price on the last day preceding that date for which there is a published price. In the case of investments quoted on more than one stock exchange the expression 'the relevant stock exchange' means for this purpose such stock exchange as the Central Board may consider to be the most appropriate;
- (b) All assets other than investments quoted on a stock exchange shall be taken at such value as may be determined on each occasion by the Central Board and for this purpose the Central Board shall be entitled at its discretion to obtain and to accept a valuation of any asset made by a professional valuer accountant stockbroker or other person considered by the Central Board to be qualified to make such valuation or to treat the cost of acquisition of any asset as the value thereof or to make such estimates of values as they may consider appropriate;

- (c) Fractions of one pound may be disregarded or rounded off to the nearest one pound.
- (3) The basic value of a share shall be arrived at by –
- (i) deducting from the value of an investment fund as valued in accordance with sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph any amount which the Central Board may have determined to distribute as income but which has not yet been withdrawn from the investment fund;
 - (ii) dividing the balance by the number of shares into which the fund is divided; and
 - (iii) rounding off the resulting figure to the nearest one-tenth of one penny.

A certificate of the Central Board as to the value of an investment fund or of any asset contributed to or withdrawn from an investment fund or as to the basic value of a share in an investment fund or as to the amount of any surcharge to be paid under sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph 8 hereof or of any deduction to be made under sub-paragraph (3) of paragraph 8 hereof shall be binding upon all concerned.

11 Income. (1) The Central Board may decide at its discretion (and without regard to any rule of law usually applicable to trust funds) whether any special dividend bonus issue of shares or other cash or property received by it in respect of property comprised in an investment fund shall be treated as income or capital or shall be apportioned. The Central Board may in like manner decide any question of apportionment between income and capital which may arise on a contribution or a withdrawal or on the acquisition or disposal of any asset.

(2) Notwithstanding any rule of law concerning accumulations any part of the net income of an investment fund may at the discretion of the Central Board be at any time transferred to the capital of that investment fund and unless and until so transferred shall be available for distribution as income.

(3) The Central Board shall as on each valuation date determine the amount (if any) to be distributed as income in respect of an investment fund. Each such distribution of income shall be made on or as soon as practicable after the valuation date in question to the holders of the shares in that investment fund in proportion to the numbers of shares recorded in their names on the day preceding that valuation date and the amount determined to be distributed shall be deducted in arriving at the basic value of the shares in that investment fund as at that valuation date. The Central Board may at any time at its discretion make interim distributions of income.

12 Costs and expenses. The Central Board shall be entitled to retain out of the income or capital of an investment fund any costs or expenses incurred by it in constituting or administering or winding up that investment fund or otherwise incurred in connection with the fund or in connection with any assets comprised therein including a due proportion of any overhead expenses of the Central Board. The certificate of the Central Board as to the amount of any such costs or expenses shall be conclusive. The Central Board may decide at its discretion (and without regard to any rule of law usually applicable to trust funds) whether any costs or expenses shall be charged to income or capital or shall be apportioned and may at its discretion recoup out of subsequent income costs or expenses initially charged to capital.

13 Borrowing. Any moneys required to be raised for the purpose of making any payment to be made under this scheme out of an investment fund or for the purpose of the management or improvement of any assets comprised in that investment fund or for the purpose of discharging any liability properly payable out of such assets or for payment of any such costs or expenses as are mentioned in paragraph 12 hereof may be raised by the Central Board either by selling or by borrowing on the security of any asset of that investment fund.

There shall be shown in each such balance sheet or in a statement annexed thereto the basic value of a share in the investment fund at the date as at which the balance sheet is made up and the amount per share which the Central Board had as on that date determined to distribute as income and there shall be shown in each such statement of income and expenditure or in a statement annexed thereto the amount (if any) which the Central Board had determined to distribute as income and the amount of income (if any) which the Central Board had determined to transfer to capital pursuant to paragraph 11 hereof.

15 Holder of a fund. The Central Board may assume until otherwise notified that the person persons or body ascertained to be the holder of a fund or the survivors of them continue to be the holder of that fund.

Any property comprised in an investment fund may be held in the name of or under the control of the Central Board or at the discretion of the Central Board in the name of or under the control of any trust corporation as nominee for the Central Board and in the latter case the Central Board may out of the investment fund remunerate any such nominee.

17 Winding up of an investment fund. The Central Board may by instrument in writing declare that an investment fund shall be wound up as from a date specified in the instrument. On such declaration the Central Board shall as from the specified date distribute the net assets of that investment fund (after discharging the costs of winding up and all other liabilities properly payable out of such assets) among the holders of the shares in that investment fund in proportion to their holdings of such shares. For the purpose of such winding up the Central Board may at its discretion:

- (a) appropriate any assets in specie to any share of the investment fund and so that different assets may be appropriated to different shares;
- (b) sell any asset or otherwise convert the same into money;
- (c) make or cause to be made any necessary valuations make payments to secure equality and generally settle any questions requiring to be settled for the purpose of the distribution.

25 Earlier provisions of scheme applicable. Sub-paragraph (3) of paragraph 3 and paragraphs 15 and 16 of this scheme shall apply to deposit funds in like manner as they apply to investment funds as if references therein to a contribution referred to a deposit.

Part 1 The Wesleys' Rules of the Society', 1743

The original basis of membership in the Methodist Church is found in the 'Rules of the Society of the People called Methodists' promulgated by John and Charles Wesley in 1743. The Deed of Union in Clause 33(a) (Vol. 2, Book II, Part 1) preserves the essential meaning of the opening paragraph in Section 4 of these Rules. The modern setting of 'First', 'Secondly' and 'Thirdly' is found in the various declarations of the Conference on social questions. As to Section 3, see now Clause 9 of the Deed and Standing Order 631 (Vol. 2, Book III, Part 6).

Rules of the Society of the People called Methodists

1. In the latter end of the year 1739, eight or ten persons came to me in London, who appeared to be deeply convinced of sin, and earnestly groaning for redemption. They desired (as did two or three more the next day) that I would spend some time with them in prayer, and advise them how to flee from the wrath to come, which they saw continually hanging over their heads. That we might have more time for this great work, I appointed a day when they might all come together; which, from thenceforth they did every week, viz. on Thursday, in the evening. To these, and as many more as desired to join them (for their number increased daily), I gave those advices from time to time which I judged most needful for them; and we always concluded our meeting with prayer suited to their several necessities.

2. This was the rise of the UNITED SOCIETY, first in London, and then in other places. Such a Society is no other than 'a company of men, having the form, and seeking the power, of godliness; united, in order to pray together, to receive the word of exhortation, and to watch over one another in love, that they may help each other to work out their salvation.'

3. That it may the more easily be discerned whether they are indeed working out their own salvation, each Society is divided into smaller companies, called Classes, according to their respective places of abode. There are about twelve persons in every Class, one of whom is styled the Leader. It is his business –

- (1) To see each person in his Class once a week at least, in order
To inquire how their souls prosper;
To advise, reprove, comfort, or exhort, as occasion may require;
To receive what they are willing to give towards the support of the Gospel.
- (2) To meet the Ministers and the Stewards of the Society once a week, in order
To inform the Minister of any that are sick, or of any that walk disorderly, and will not be reproved;
To pay the Stewards what they have received of their several Classes in the week preceding; and
To show their account of what each person has contributed.

4. There is only one condition required in those who desire admission into these Societies; viz. 'a desire to flee from the wrath to come, to be saved from their sins.' But wherever this is really fixed in the soil it will be shown by its fruits. It is therefore expected of all who continue therein that they should continue to evidence their desire of salvation,

FIRST, By doing no harm, by avoiding evil in every kind; especially that which is most generally practised. Such is –

The taking the name of God in vain;

The profaning the day of the Lord, either by doing ordinary work thereon, or by buying or selling;

Drunkenness; buying or selling spirituous liquors, or drinking them, unless in cases of extreme necessity;

Fighting, quarrelling, brawling; brother going to law with brother; returning evil for evil, or railing for railing; the using many words in buying or selling;

The buying or selling uncustomed goods;

The giving or taking things on usury; i.e. unlawful interest;

Uncharitable or unprofitable conversation; particularly speaking evil of Magistrates or of Ministers;

Doing to others as we would not they should do unto us;

Doing what we know is not for the glory of God: as –

The putting on of gold or costly apparel;

The taking such diversions as cannot be used in the name of the LORD JESUS;

The singing those songs, or reading those books, which do not tend to the knowledge or love of God;

Softness, and needless self-indulgence;

Laying up treasures upon earth;

Borrowing without a probability of paying; or taking up goods without a probability of paying for them.

5. It is expected of all who continue in these Societies that they should continue to evidence their desire of salvation.

SECONDLY, By doing good, by being in every kind merciful after their power; as they have opportunity, doing good of every possible sort, and, as far as is possible, to all men;

To their bodies, of the ability that God giveth, by giving food to the hungry, by clothing the naked, by visiting or helping them that are sick or in prison;

To their souls, by instructing, reproving, or exhorting all they have any intercourse with; trampling under foot that enthusiastic doctrine of devils, that 'we are not to do good, unless our heart be free to it.'

By doing good, especially to them that are of the household of faith or groaning so to be; employing them preferably to others, buying one of another, helping each other in business; and so much the more, because the world will love its own, and them only.

By all possible diligence and frugality, that the Gospel be not blamed.

By running with patience the race that is set before them, denying themselves, and taking up their cross daily; submitting to bear the reproach of Christ; to be as the filth and offscouring of the world; and looking that men should say all manner of evil of them falsely, for the Lord's sake.

6. It is expected of all who desire to continue in these Societies, that they should continue to evidence their desire of salvation,

THIRDLY, By attending upon all the Ordinances of GOD; such are:

The public worship of God;

The ministry of the Word, either read or expounded;

The Supper of the Lord;

Family and private prayer;

Searching the Scriptures; and

Fasting or abstinence.

7. These are the General Rules of our Societies; all which we are taught of God to observe, even in His written Word, the only rule, and the sufficient rule, both of our faith and practice. And all these we know His Spirit writes on every truly awakened heart. If there be any among us who observe them not, who habitually break any of them, let it be made known unto them who watch over that soul, as they that must give an account. We will admonish him of the error of his ways: we will bear with him for a season. But then if he repent not, he hath no more place among us. We have delivered our own souls.

May 1, 1743

JOHN WESLEY.
CHARLES WESLEY.

Part 2 ‘The Twelve Rules of a Helper’, 1753

At the first Methodist Conference held in London in 1744 the disciplinary rules of the itinerant preachers were formulated. As revised by the Conference in 1753 and entitled ‘The Twelve Rules of a Helper’ they were later associated with the Resolutions on Pastoral Work known as the ‘Liverpool Minutes 1820’ (see below) and directed to be read annually in the pastoral session of the May Synod.

1. Be diligent. Never be unemployed. Never be triflingly employed. Never while away time, nor spend more time at any place than is strictly necessary.

2. Be serious. Let your motto be ‘Holiness to the Lord’. Avoid all lightness, jesting, and foolish talking.

3. Converse sparingly and cautiously with women, particularly with young women.

4. Take no step towards marriage without solemn prayer to God, and consulting with your Brethren.

5. Believe evil of no one unless fully proved; take heed how you credit it. Put the best construction you can on everything. You know the Judge is always supposed to be on the prisoner’s side.

6. Speak evil of no one; else your word, especially, would eat as doth a canker. Keep your thoughts within your own breast till you come to the person concerned.

7. Tell every one what you think wrong in him, lovingly and plainly; and as soon as may be, else it will fester in your own heart. Make all haste to cast the fire out of your bosom.

8. Do not affect the gentleman. A Preacher of the Gospel is the servant of all.

9. Be ashamed of nothing but sin; no, not of cleaning your own shoes, when necessary.

10. Be punctual. Do everything exactly at the time. And do not mend our Rules, but keep them; and that for conscience’ sake.

11. You have nothing to do but to save souls. Therefore spend and be spent in this work. And go always, not only to those who want you but to those who want you most.

12. Act in all things, not according to your own will, but as a Son in the Gospel, and in union with your Brethren.

As such, it is your part to employ your time as our Rules direct: partly in preaching, and visiting from house to house; partly in reading, meditation, and prayer. Above all, if you labour with us in our Lord’s vineyard, it is needful that you should do that part of the work which the Conference shall advise, at those times and places which they shall judge most for His glory.

Observe: It is not your business to preach so many times, and to take care merely of this or that Society, but to save as many souls as you can; to bring as many sinners as you possibly can to repentance; and, with all your power, to build them up in that holiness without which they cannot see the Lord.

And remember, a Methodist Preacher is to mind every point, great and small, in the Methodist Discipline. Therefore you will need all the grace and all the sense you have, and to have all your wits about you.

RESOLUTIONS ON PASTORAL WORK

commonly referred to as the ‘Liverpool Minutes 1820’

Adopted by the Wesleyan Methodist Conference in 1820 and revised in 1885.

I Ourselves and our Families

We, on this solemn occasion, devote ourselves afresh to God; and resolve, in humble dependence on His grace, to be more than ever attentive to personal religion, and to the Christian instruction and government of our families. And we further resolve to cultivate more fully the spirit of Christian Pastors, so that all our intercourse with our people may be to edification; and as ‘Overseers of the flock’, to give ourselves to the work of ‘warning every man and teaching every man in all wisdom, that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus’. And in order to this, let us frequently read and carefully study Mr. Wesley’s ‘Twelve Rules of a Helper’, and other parts of the Large Minutes which relate to the duties of a Preacher and Pastor.

Let us daily consecrate ourselves fully and entirely to our proper work as the servants of Christ and of His Church, giving ourselves 'wholly' to it, both in public and private. Let us strictly guard against all occupations of our time and thoughts which have no direct relation to our great calling, and which would injuriously divert our attention from the momentous task of 'saving them that hear us', and 'taking care of the Church of God'.

Let us afresh, solemnly and heartily recognize the original purpose of Methodism, 'to spread Scriptural holiness through the land', and ever regard this as the first and great calling of the Methodist people, and especially of the Preachers. And let us determine, in the Name of God, that this idea shall rule our whole life, and that every pursuit and design shall be subordinated to this our high and special calling.

II The Study

Let us humbly and earnestly seek a more complete preparation for the great work of the ministry, and especially that richer 'unction of the Holy One' which is vouchsafed only to men who live near to God. This anointing for our office would yield what most of all we ourselves need and desire: a large increase of ardent piety and of vigorous faith; holy importunity in prayer, and irresistible persuasiveness in preaching.

Let us 'covet earnestly the best gifts', to qualify us for an effective and useful ministry, and let us seek them in fervent prayer to Him who is the Father of lights and the Fountain of wisdom. Let us meanwhile 'stir up the gift of God which is in us', and improve our talents by close study and diligent cultivation; and especially let every one of us 'study to show' himself 'approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed; rightly dividing the word of truth'. Let us take care that, whatever other qualifications we may acquire and use, our ministry shall at least be always marked by sound, evangelical doctrine, by plainness of speech, and by a spirit of tender affection and burning zeal.

III The Pulpit

Let us preach constantly the leading and vital doctrines of the Gospel: repentance toward God; a present, free, and full salvation from sin; – a salvation flowing from the grace of God alone, 'through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus', and apprehended by the simple exercise of faith; – a salvation which begins with the forgiveness of sins (this forgiveness being certified to the penitent believer by the Holy Spirit) and (by means of this witness, but by the power of that Divine Spirit who bears the witness) a change of heart; – a salvation which is itself the only entrance to a course of practical holiness.

And let us preach these cardinal doctrines in our primitive method, – evangelically and experimentally, with apostolical earnestness and zeal, and with great simplicity. Let us 'labour in the word and doctrine'; applying our discourses closely and lovingly to the various classes of our hearers, and 'by manifestation of the truth, commending ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God'.

Remembering that the prominence which is properly given in the Methodist pulpit to the doctrine of present salvation is ever liable to Antinomian abuses, let us diligently and evangelically preach the precepts as well as the privileges of the Gospel, expounding them carefully and applying them faithfully.

Let us build up our people in knowledge and holiness; urging them to fidelity in family duties, and especially in the godly training up of their children; and, in general, to 'follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another'.

In every place, let us speak plainly and pointedly on the duty and advantage of Christian communion, and exhort all who are seeking salvation to avail themselves, without delay, of the help of our more private Means of Grace.

In particular, let us urge upon all our people a conscientious and frequent observance of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper; expounding its nature; instructing the young, and reasoning with the timid and the doubting; and setting forth the duty and blessedness of 'showing the Lord's death till He come'.

IV Society Meetings

1. Being fully persuaded that the regular and frequent meeting of our Societies is of vital importance to the prosperity and perpetuation of the work of God amongst our people, let us meet the principal Societies regularly on the Lord's Day, and frequently on the week evenings in country places. And let us make such Meetings interesting and profitable to our Members by information as to the state of the Work of God in the Circuit generally; by reference to the special circumstances of the Society then present; and by explaining our own Rules, and 'putting the Brethren in remembrance' of their specific duties, both personal and domestic.

2. And from time to time let us exhort our Members, in the event of their removing into other Circuits, to secure a Note of Removal, and to seek immediate connexion with the Society in the place whither they go to reside.

3. And inasmuch as religion in our Societies depends largely upon the cultivation amongst us of family religion, let us earnestly press upon our people the regular and devout observance of Family Worship, accompanied by the reading of Holy Scripture. And in order to a due discharge of this most important domestic duty, a suitable and sufficient portion of time should be conscientiously set apart in the morning and evening of each day, when the attendance of all members of the household, servants included, should be arranged for and required.

4. Let us also at such Meetings earnestly exhort our Societies to make the best and most religious use of the rest and leisure of the Lord's Day. Let us urge upon our Members to sanctify the Sabbath Day, not only personally, but in their families, by 'commanding their children and their households to keep the way of the Lord'; and especially by a regular attendance upon the public worship of Almighty God, both morning and evening, and by arranging that, in their families, as few persons as possible are kept at home.

5. And let us show to our people the evil of wasting, in visits or in receiving company, those hours of the holy Sabbath which are not spent in public worship; and that such a practice tends to the neglect of private prayer, of the study of the Scriptures, and of the religious instruction of children – and so to the spiritual injury of domestic servants who are thereby needlessly kept at work on the day of rest, and deprived of the public Means of Grace.

6. And, lastly, let us guard our people against the danger of expending all their time and energy on local and subordinate enterprises and works of charity, to the neglect of the public preaching of the Gospel, the Weekly Meeting for prayer and intercession, and the Class Meeting. Let us show them that, by a wise economy of time, they may 'fulfil their course' of benevolent activities without robbing God of the public worship which He demands. And on this question let us, as occasion serves, remind our Members that, under the Divine blessing, the prosperity of the spiritual work of God depends upon the regular and conscientious use of His institutions, for it is through the means that we reach the end; and our own history shows that, in the success of the spiritual work of God, all other good undertakings among us had their origin, and have ever had their principal support. 'These things ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone.'

V Leaders' Meetings

1. Let us regularly meet the Class Leaders, both in town and country; and at each Leaders' Meeting let us carefully examine the entries made in the Class Books relative to the attendance of the Members, in order that prompt and practical measures may be taken in cases which, on inquiry, shall be found to demand the exercise of discipline, 'the word of exhortation', or kindly counsel and Christian sympathy.

2. From the beginning, Leaders' Meetings have been found essential to the pastoral care and spiritual prosperity for our Societies, and also to the orderly transaction of their financial concerns. Where Leaders' Meetings are frequently held, the work of the Leaders is done more perfectly. And by a minute examination of the Class Books, in the presence of the Leaders, we learn who are the sick, the careless, or the lukewarm; and then, in making pastoral visits, we are prepared to go, 'not only to those who want us, but to those who want us most'. Let us, therefore, see to it that Leaders' Meetings are held regularly, and as often as practicable, not only in the towns in which Ministers reside, but also in the principal country places.

3. As much depends, under the blessing of God, of the piety, zeal, and devotion, the Scriptural knowledge and Christian temper of our Leaders, and also on their intelligent and hearty approval of the doctrines and discipline of Methodism, let us, before nominating a new Leader, satisfy ourselves, by previous inquiry and personal examination, as to the character and qualifications of the person proposed.

4. Whenever a new Leader, nominated by us and accepted by the Leaders' Meeting, is first introduced to the Meeting, let us take that opportunity of stating the duties which belong to the office. And in particular, let us urge upon our Leaders the vital importance of seeing or communicating with each of their Members once a week.

5. Let us promote in every place the observance of those parts of our discipline which refer to Watch-nights, private and public Bands, and Quarterly Fast Days.

VI Quarterly Visitation of the Classes

Believing that, next to the public 'Ministry of the Word', the Quarterly Visitation of the Classes is our most important official work, and remembering that to those of our Members who are not accessible for visitation at their own homes, the Visitation of the Classes is probably their only opportunity of direct intercourse with their Ministers, let us be careful each quarter to meet personally every class, never sending the Tickets to the Leader.

And in making the Ticket Plan, let us so arrange the Visitation as not to crowd too many Classes together; but rather, by beginning the work early in the quarter, allow sufficient time in meeting each Class for a careful examination of the Members as to their Christian knowledge, experience, and practice, and for inquiry as to family religion; and also for suitable pastoral advice, encouragement, or admonition, for 'consolation in Christ', for 'comfort of love', for 'fellowship of the Spirit'.

And, in connection with the Visitation of the Classes, let us on the one hand inquire particularly into the experience and habits of those whom we find 'on Trial', and receive into Society those only who, after due probation, may fairly be 'counted worthy'. And, on the other hand, let us not, upon slight grounds, return any person as having 'ceased to meet'; but, before writing off such a one, let us inquire particularly into the case; and, wherever practicable, let us ourselves visit the person; and thus, 'by all means save some' of the many who 'forsake the assembling of themselves together'.

VII Pastoral Visitation

We recognize the absolute obligation which is laid upon us – and which was solemnly acknowledged at the time we received Ordination – to secure, by mutual consultation and arrangement, such a general, stated, and efficient visitation of our people at their own dwellings as is involved in the Scriptural command to 'feed the Church of God', and in the example of St. Paul, who 'taught' the people 'publicly, and from house to house'; and also in those other Scriptures which, in varied language, represent Christian Ministers as the under-shepherds of the flock of God – Jesus Christ Himself being the 'Chief Shepherd'.

We are persuaded that the unity and edification of our Societies, and the good feeling of our people generally, would be promoted by increased pastoral intercourse with them at their own homes. And, in the present day, the perilous exposure of our Members to the manifold fascinations of worldliness demands unremitting diligence on our part; and especially that, in connection with our pastoral visits, there should be, whenever practicable, the reading of a suitable portion of Holy Scripture, and prayer.

We do not forget that the cares and labours, both spiritual and economical, which devolve upon Ministers, and in particular upon Superintendents, are steadily increasing; but at the same time the proportion of Ministers to Members is also increasing. And we are convinced that, by a wise economy of time, by energy and perseverance, and especially by system and method, much more Pastoral Visitation may be accomplished.

We, therefore, resolve to give ourselves afresh and more fully to this part of our work; and we agree to devote regularly certain portions of our time for the purpose of visiting the Members of our Societies 'from house to house'. And we will strive to make our visits profitable to the people, by kindly inquiry into their Christian experience, by giving seasonable counsel, and by exhorting them to a faithful and loving observance of all the duties of personal and family religion.

In particular, let us care for the aged, the infirm, the sick, and the poor; let us keep watch over the lukewarm and the careless; and let us pay special attention to backsliders. 'In the spirit of meekness' and in much patience, let us endeavour to 'restore' them that have been 'overtaken in a fault', and seek by private efforts, as well as by our public ministrations, to recover the fallen 'out of the snare of the devil'. And, lastly, when we go to our country appointments on week evenings, let us secure time, before the public service, for the pastoral visitation of village Methodists.

VIII Oversight of the Young

In order that the Work of God may be perpetuated among us, let us, in public and in private, pay particular spiritual attention to the young people of our Societies and congregations. Let us frequently and affectionately speak to them on their peculiar dangers and duties, and seek to enlist their intelligent sympathy with our doctrines and discipline; and that they 'may be delivered from this present evil world, according to the will of God', let us strive to lead them to an earnest consecration of themselves to the service of Christ and His Church.

And to secure increased facilities for such ministrations, let us, wherever practicable, make arrangements for obtaining pastoral access at stated times to the young persons of the Methodist families between the ages of fourteen to twenty-one; with a view to promote their spiritual welfare by personal instruction, exhortation, appeal, and prayer.

IX Care for the Children

We are convinced of the obligation which rests on all Christian Pastors to feed and take the oversight of the lambs, as well as of the sheep of the flock of Christ; and we agree to hold, wherever practicable, Weekly Meetings with the children of our people.

X Sunday Schools

Let us afford to our Sunday Schools all possible encouragement and aid; by attending their Committee and Teachers' Meetings; by visiting the principal Schools at least once in every quarter; and by giving, as occasion serves, advice and counsel to the Officers and Teachers.

XI Catechetical Instruction

Let us recommend, both in Sunday Schools and in the families of our people, the practice of Catechetical instruction in order that 'being rooted and grounded' in 'those things which are most surely believed among us', our children may in after-years 'hold fast the form of sound words'. And let us commend everywhere our own Catechisms.

XII Cottage Prayer Meetings

Let us encourage Prayer Meetings in the houses of our friends at such times as will not interfere with attendance at our Chapels and other preaching-places. For when prudently conducted by persons of established piety and competent gifts, and duly superintended by the Ministers and the Leaders' Meetings, such services are productive of much good among the poor; and have often proved the means of grace and salvation to many who could not, at first, have been reached in any other way.

XIII Cottage Preaching

In populous neighbourhoods where there is a general neglect of the means of grace already established, let us preach in private houses, especially in the cottages of the poor; that so we may gain access to 'them that are without', and, by the Divine blessing, bring them under concern for salvation, and win them over to attendance on public worship in the house of God.

XIV Forming New Classes

In our old and large Societies especially, let us from time to time appoint new Leaders, active and zealous men and women, 'of honest report, and full of the Holy Ghost and of wisdom', and encourage them to form new Classes in suitable neighbourhoods; and let us seek thus to gather into the fold of Christ those persons who, it may be, live at a distance from any chapel, yet are 'not far from the kingdom of God'; but who need special invitation, and are not likely to 'give themselves to the Lord, and unto us by the will of God', without more than ordinary enterprise and spiritual attention.

XV Visitation of Villages

In country places, where it is not possible at present to appoint Preachers regularly, let suitable persons attend, under the direction of the Superintendent, for the purpose of public prayer and exhortation, and occasionally to read to the congregation a short and plain sermon, until such places can be supplied regularly with Local Preachers. And let us conscientiously care for and watch over the country places already on the Plan.

XVI Opening New Places

In every Circuit, let us try to open new places, and let us try again places which have not been recently visited; and let us not be satisfied until every town, village, and hamlet shall be blessed, so far as we can accomplish it, with the means of grace and salvation. And with a view to a revival and extension of the Work of God, let us have recourse, even in our old-established Circuits, to the practice of preaching out of doors; seeking, in order to save that which is lost.

XVII Extension of Methodism

In a word, let every one of us consider himself called to be, in point of enterprise, zeal, and diligence, a Home Missionary; and to enlarge and extend, as well as keep, the Circuit to which he is appointed.

XVIII Official Meetings

In conducting Quarterly Meetings, and all other Official Meetings, let us steadily discourage the spirit of strife and debate, and firmly disallow the introduction of all topics of irritating discussion not legitimately arising out of the proper business of the Meeting. Let us remember that the only way to live in peace is to walk by rule; and in the administration of all our affairs, in the Society and in the Circuit, let us cultivate the spirit and exhibit the manner of men who are acting for God in the service of His Church.

XIX Pastoral Responsibility

Whilst we readily and cheerfully protect our Office Bearers and Members, in Meetings over which we preside, in the exercise of such functions as belong to them according to our laws and usage – let us not forget that we are under obligation to act on such occasions, not merely as the Chairmen of Public Meetings, but also as the Pastors of Christian Societies; who, by the ordinance of God, and by their own voluntary association with us, are 'put in trust with' the Scriptural oversight of their spiritual affairs, and are directly responsible to the great Head of the Church for the discreet and faithful discharge of the duties of that 'trust'.

XX Catholicity

Let us ourselves remember, and from time to time impress upon our people, that we, as a Connexion, do not exist for the purpose of party. If at any time we are tempted to 'entangle ourselves with affairs' which are foreign to the exclusive calling of Methodist Ministers, let us resolve, in dependence upon the grace of God, to keep aloof from all merely party purposes, and from party spirit. By the example of our Founder, by the original principle of which our Societies are formed, and by our professions before the world, we are bound to beware of a sectarian spirit, to avoid the appearance of bigotry, and to abstain from disputes on minor subjects of theological controversy. In our occasional intercourse with the Ministers and Members of other Churches, 'let every one of us please his neighbour, for his good, to edification'; and towards all denominations of Christians 'holding the Head', let us maintain the kind and catholic spirit of primitive Methodism, and ever show ourselves 'the friends of all, the enemies of none'.

XXI Conclusion

And being deeply sensible that, in order to the revival and extension of the Work of God, the great thing to be desired is an abundant effusion of the Holy Spirit on ourselves and our families, our Societies and our Congregations; we solemnly agree to seek that blessing by humble and earnest prayer; in our private supplications, in our family devotions, and in the pulpit; and we desire to 'continue with one accord in prayer and supplication' 'until the Spirit be poured upon us from on high, and the wilderness becomes a fruitful field, and the fruitful field be counted for a forest'.

COMPARATIVE TABLES

Table A gives the source of each Standing Order appearing in the Sixth Edition and Table B the destination of each Standing Order and regulation appearing in the Fifth Edition, as amended down to and including the Conference of 1973.

In both Tables numbers not otherwise differentiated are of Standing Orders, numbers preceded by 'D' or 'MD' indicate clauses in the Deed of Union or Model Deed respectively and 'R1' etc. refer to the successive restructuring reports, as follows:

- R1: 'Department Structure and Function' (1970)
- R2: 'Report of the Restructuring of the Church, 1971-72'
- R3: 'Report on the Restructuring of the Church, (1972)
- R4: Report of the Committee on Restructuring to the 1973 Conference.

The insertion of 'R1' etc. in round brackets after the number of a Standing Order or clause indicates that the clause or sub-clause numbers are as rewritten by the relevant restructuring report.

In Table B a reference in square brackets in the 'destination' column indicates that the Standing Order in question has either been omitted as duplicating or contravening the provision indicated or has been deleted by the restructuring report specified.
